

PRINCE OF WALES PRIMARY SCHOOL

NEWSLETTER 15th January 2016

Listening Excellence Attitude Respect Negotiate Enjoy Responsible Support

Dear Parents, Governors and Friends,

This week we had our annual review of our school that concluded that Prince of Wales has 'transformed' over the past years and that the right steps continue to be taken to ensure that our pupils make good progress. We are of course pleased to hear that our efforts are being acknowledged. Most poignant during the 2-day visit by five Enfield school improvement advisers was hearing pupils say that they would recommend our school to others because "The teachers care about us; they want us to achieve and do well, just like our own parents."

Jan Bless, Headteacher

Ma and Zhai

Ma and Zhai are two ballet dancers who, like Carlos (see last week's newsletter), teach us something about humility. Check out the performance, that won the audience popular vote and a silver medal, on our website – value awards. Can your children explain in what way our monthly value links to Ma and Zhai?

If you have any concerns about a child's safety or their well-being, then contact a member of our safeguarding team:
Miss Paddon, Mrs Reese, Mr Bless, Mr Taylor or Miss Clarke.

Maths Challenge Time with Miss Richie and Mrs. Neodeous!

Have a go at this puzzle at home. Feel free to come and tell me when you have found the answer or wait for the answer in next weeks newsletter.

Good luck!

1. I am a three digit number.
2. I am an odd number.
3. I am divisible by 5.
4. Each digit is different.

5. My digits add up to 8.
6. The tens digit is smaller than the hundreds digit.
7. I am less than 300.
8. Only one of my digits is even.

Well done if you the last challenge! There were 12 ways to arrange the chairs

The best solutions would have been
6 rows of 16 or 4 rows of 24.

This week you need to be a maths detective to solve this problem. What is the least number of calculations you need do before you can be sure of the answer.

You must do them in the order shown.

Our Value for this month is Humility

How can you help your child explore the Value of Humility? At home, you could encourage your children to draw characters that represent arrogance and humility. For example, the arrogant character might have a big head, a little heart and short arms because he does not help others. The humble character might have a big heart, big ears (for hearing about others' needs), and long arms with big muscles for helping others.

New website launch

We are excited to have launched our new and improved website in October. With user friendly navigation, up to date menu information, breaking service news items, latest on nutrition standards, competitions and lots more. We hope pupils and parents alike will visit our page and get involved. Our primary aim is to inform, interact with and listen to our customers, your views are essential and we hope will help us shape our service.

All pupils are welcome to take part in our latest competition; the winners could influence our future menu as well as win a great prize!

We like to keep things relevant and local, often posting recently taken photos of the food your child has been served and the staff serving them.

Our new website is informative, colorful and fun it will encourage your children to make great food choices. Join us and tell us what you think – www.myschoollunch.co.uk/enfield

Parents, please don't just sign reading records but listen to your child read and question their understanding.
Thank you

New Competition!

To celebrate the launch of our website we have launched a new prize competition. Open to all pupils, it's easy to enter! Simply go to 'Pupil Competition' on our website and complete the entry form, submit online or by post, the password is 'apple'. Enter to win a great prize and the chance to have your favorite dish on your school menu.

Exciting new menu!

Our new menu has launched and includes some old favourites, and new dishes such as Lemon & thyme roasted chicken, MSC* Jamaican Escovitch salmon, Quorn Chilli burrito, Organic lamb burger, wild mushroom frittata and Beef/Lamb Meatloaf, Chocolate beetroot cake and pineapple wedges.
