Sportsmanship for me is when a guy walks off the court and you can't really tell whether he won or lost because he carries himself with pride either way. If you win through bad sportsmanship then that's no real victory. Don't let a win get to your head or a loss to your heart. It never gets easier, you just get better. Ela, 5W

True sportsmanship is excellence in motion. One man practising sportsmanship is far better than a hundred teaching it. We think sportsmanship is knowing that it is a game, that we are only as good as our opponents and that, whether you win or lose, you should always give 100%. It is better to know defeat than to know nothing at all. The only way to prove that you're a good sport is to lose. Samir, Daniel, 5W

Sportsmanship is respecting people that are there for you, including the team of people that you are playing against. It is about shaking hands and being happy even if you lose. Sportsmanship is never giving up and being resilient. Sportsmanship is having fun whilst playing the game and not playing to win. If you don't show sportsmanship and you win the game there is no point because no one would like to congratulate you and would not think that you are a very nice person.

Acelya
