

Christmas Dinner

On Christmas night
With Sisters and brother
Down the stairs
Out I go, Christmas I remember
Into the dark, ones of long ago
Under our mantelpiece flames blaze
Towards his black boots and white beards who you may believe

Onto Trafalga Square
Among Christmas finds me dreaming
In between that days used to be
With their presents hidden here and there
Near the fire for all the family to sing
Among the fragrance in the air
Past the smell of roasting turkey and mince pies.

Under the trees cookies everywhere
Between the cold, I wake up early
Through the kitchen, my tummy grows of hunger
Beside I cry and scream the smell of ginger and cinnamon drifting to the sky.
Past the room jumpers its time to come out
Across the table coco fills me warm
Towards christmas finds me longing

Out of time, christmas dinner is ready
Towards Christmas Pudding I love
Into childhood as long as memorise last.
Our glasses of Champagne
Amid of splashes of laughter
Next holly leaves begin to shine
To the reindeers, its red nose glows
