

For Winter night

On Winter night
With Aunties and Uncles
Down the lift to the next floor
Out of the doors to Glasgow's market
Into the dark and lights that shine
Under a beautiful Christmas tree
Towards your fortune of love!

Onto different streets with your happy friends
Among the tasty smells
In between a crowd of shoppers
With their Christmas decorations hanging by
Near the steam of freshness
Among the wooden stalls
Past the food stalls which has a smell of delight

Under the twinkling sky
Between the smell of fragrance
Through the gully-grown daisies
Beside the bright lamps
Past the shadows of darkness
Across the fields
Toward the bakery of kindness

Out of the bakery
Toward the opening of stalls
Into the shelves of decorations
Over the pots of hot chocolate
Next to the Carol singers
To Santa Claus who you may believe
Amid the people that you love

Haniya Baksh 623