Adults

The Indian elephant is covered in fuzzy hair. A newborn elephant weighs 110 kg. The baby elephant is called a calf. The baby stays in the group until it is about 10 years old.

The African elephant is smaller than the Indian elephant. Its habitat is being destroyed. Adults look heavier. It is the second largest land animal. An adult eats lots of leaves and grasses. Adults eat in the morning and evening. It could live to be eighty.

Its trunk is really a nose. It breathes through its trunk. Its trunk can break branches. Its trunk sucks up water and squirts it into its mouth. The tip of its trunk can pick up a single berry. It uses its trunk to drink.
