

The Torah

Jews believe God gave the Torah, containing his laws, to Moses.

Rules (or laws) in the Torah teach Jews how to treat other people and how to love God.

Jews believe that in return for God's love and care for them, they should keep His laws.