

I can write a description of an out door setting.

Today you will be turning yesterday's notes into sentences within a short paragraph.

Make sure your writing all links up.

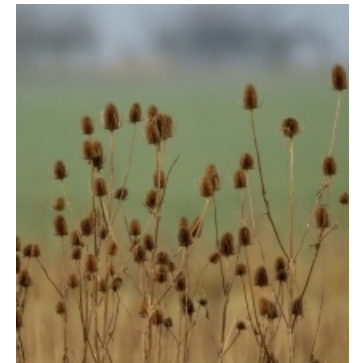

Read my example on the following page .

Can you spot my relative clause?

A narrow footpaths lead us to the shallow swales of the Wetlands. As stepped on the twigs and leaves, they sank into the lush, damp grass. Wild and thorny teasel scratched my legs as I walked by .

There were sporadic pockets of space filled with flowers : foxgloves, which beginning to blossom , covered the spaces with no greenery . Violet flowers stood in row praising the beaming sun.

Whoosh! In the distance I could hear the River Lea. The Wetlands in the summer is a truly magical place .

Now write up yours notes , and today also include a relative clause .

Remember make sure all your sentences link up so that your writing flows.

Challenge : could you include onomatopoeia ?

A word that sounds like what it describes.

Swoosh went the water in the swales.

Crunch , crunch , as I walked on the dry leaves .

Whoosh! In the distance I could hear the River Lea.
