Listening Excellence Attitude Respect Negotiate Enjoy Responsible Support

Dear Parents/Carers, Governors and Friends,

Ofsted report available now

I am delighted to share with you the letter from the Lead Inspector that visited our school in June 2021. There is much to celebrate in this report with two key targets for parents as well: make sure your child comes to school every day and for your child to consistently read at home.

Prince-of-Wales-Primary-School Ofsted Report June 2021. Next, we will be reviewing our school vision and share our Journey to Outstanding.

Diwali

We wish that all families in our school community that celebrated Diwali yesterday had a joyous time. Year 2 led a lovely assembly that explained the origins of Diwali and how this festival is celebrated

School Parliament

Last chance for any child wanting to participate in the origami and flick book competition.

Winners will be selected on Monday 8th on which day School Parliament Members will elect their Chair and Vice-Chair as well.

Ali, Agnes, Lexi, An'niya, Rayan, Nevelyn, Altai and Mikail

Children new to Prince of Wales

Mrs Dunlea caught up with many of the children who started at our school from September. The children in classes from Year 1 to Year 4 said they had all settled and are very happy at school, they have all made new friend and think their own class teacher is the best.

"Lexi in 3F told me her favourite subject is maths and she loves to help her friends if they need help. Agnes said she has lots of friends who play with her at lunch time and she loves to help her teacher with jobs in class. It was a pleasure to meet up again after doing their admissions to see how they had settled in."

Coming to England – Floella Benjamin

Windrush books are my favourite because my grandma's great, great grandad was part of the Windrush so it is nice to learn facts about it.

Coming to England is another favourite because they are from Jamaica and they come to England just like my dad so I like to read about it. I recommend this book to people who want to learn about their history/background. Nevaeh 6T

The Midnight Gang – David Walliams

This is my favourite book that I read while doing the reading challenge because it was very exciting and you would be surprised about what happens next! My favourite part was when they were trying to make George's dream come true but instead they made an old lady fly. Annabel 6Ta

Code Name Bananas – David Walliams

My favourite book from the summer reading challenge was Code Name Bananas. My favourite part in the book is when Gertrude did different tricks such as sticking out her tongue, splitting a banana with her feet and wiggling her bottom. I would give this book a 10 out of 10. Isabella 6Ta

Boy Everywhere – A.M.Dassu

My recommendation is Boy Everywhere because it is all about hope. It is about a Syrian boy who never gave up, even when he had to go through various different countries just to get to England. It inspires me to try my best and never give up. Jeremiah 6T

No Ballet Shoes in Syria – Catherine Bruton

This is an inspirational book because it is about a girl from another country trying to adjust to Britain and become a dancer. It is an excellent book about determination and it inspired me to always-do-my-best. Esther 6T

Royal Festival Hall – Year Four Visit

On Wednesday, Year 4 were very lucky to visit to The Royal Festival Hall to hear the London Philharmonic Orchestra perform the famous Symphonie Fantastique by Hector Berlioz. The children were incredibly well behaved all day and made us very proud of them and a pleasure to be with. On the way to the venue, we were treated to a beautiful view of the River Thames and some of the historic and more modern buildings as we crossed the bridge at the embankment. The concert was enjoyable and very interactive – a presenter broke down the movements of the piece of music and the children enjoyed singing in French and performing actions to a song and the symphony.

Thank you very much to all the parents who offered to support and come with us on this visit.

“My favourite instrument was the violin” – Mia

“I think the music sounds really scary in the ‘Witches’ movement” – Rona

Extensive river restoration project completes at Albany Park

Get involved in the newly reopened Albany Park

A major transformation of Albany Park and restoration of a section of the Turkey Brook has officially completed, providing better access to nature, a new wetland and important flood. We know many people in Enfield would like to play their part by helping in our parks and restoring Enfield rivers, and feel particularly inspired by the upcoming UN Climate Change Conference. To get involved in Albany Park or other programmes with our project partners Thames21, please visit the volunteering events page.

A major transformation of Albany Park and restoration of a section of the Turkey Brook has officially completed, providing better access to nature and important flood protection to nearby homes.

Enfield Council celebrated the project on Thursday (14 October) with a tour for stakeholders including the Greater London Authority (GLA), Thames21, the Environment Agency, the Friends of Albany Park and local school pupils who walked along the river and around the freshly planted wetland. The Enfield Archaeological Society was also on hand to explain what was unearthed during excavations, with some items dating back to the Victorian era.

The Albany Park river restoration project, located in the North East of the borough, was part funded by a £346,000 capital grant from the Mayor of London, alongside a £901,000 grant from the Environment Agency and £250,000 from Enfield Council's capital programme. Work will continue to create more than 300 metres of improved footpaths and cycleways and an outdoor classroom that can be used by local school children and community groups. New entry points will help connect surrounding neighbourhoods to Albany Park.

Enfield Council was also awarded £678,000 by the government's £80 million Green Recovery Challenge Fund to create new woodlands and wetlands, as well as to carry out work to restore existing waterways, which includes the Turkey Brook.

Enfield Council's Cabinet Member for Environment, Cllr Rick Jewell, said: "Albany Park is a fantastic example of how we are improving and enhancing our open spaces and making them more accessible, particularly in areas of the borough that have in previous years not had sufficient attention. It was an enormous task to re-route the river but this will attract wildlife, improve biodiversity and, along with the wetland, protect local homes from flooding risks.

"I am proud that we have been able to officially re-open the park ahead of London Rivers Week (23-31 October), so we can show how our river restoration can cope with extreme events such as flooding and surface water pollution. Climate action and climate awareness projects sit at the heart of Enfield Council and we are committed to delivering further rewilding and urban greening across the borough."

Shirley Rodrigues, Deputy Mayor of London for Environment and Energy, joined Cllr Jewell and helped school children with their planting tasks. She said: "This fantastic project in Albany Park shows how our green spaces can be transformed to be better places for nature and Londoners and make our city more resilient to a changing climate. The design of this park now protects hundreds of homes from flooding, which is increasingly necessary as intense rainfall becomes even more frequent.

"The Mayor has invested more than £13 million to create and enhance green spaces through his Greener City Fund, including funding the planting of a record 330,000 trees. The Mayor has also committed to ensuring all Londoners have access to green space within 10 minutes of where they live. With this week's UN Biodiversity Conference and with COP26 coming up next month, projects like this really demonstrate the benefits of investing in our green spaces to make the most of their contribution to biodiversity, climate resilience and community well-being."

It is also hoped that the project in Albany Park will bring the community together to learn about sustainability and improve local wellbeing. Enfield Council and the project partner Thames21 are keen for volunteers to get involved. The Thames21's events page has more information on Restoring Enfield's Rivers and upcoming volunteering events, including a walk along the Turkey Brook on 23 October. The Friends of Albany Park is also looking for new members. To take part in their activities, visit their Facebook page.

from 8.45am

in the Community Room

Please come along and meet Mrs Rees, our Parent Support Advisor (PSA) and Ms Paddon (Aht for Inclusion) as well as Jacky Stevenson and Marsha Walton (PSAs) from the Enfield Autism Advisory Service.

Jacky and Marsha will be sharing what support is available for parents / carers whose child has a diagnosis of autism or who is currently going through the process.

EYFS Harvest

The children and families in EYFS generously donated food for the harvest.

We talked about the importance of harvest and giving to those in need.

In Reception we talked about harvest and have been reading the story of the Little Red Hen.

We retold the story with puppets and made our own puppets.

In Year 1, we looked at a picture from the Beauty and the Beast story and discussed how we use 'colourful semantics'; who, what, and why with the parents. We then made 'roses' using twigs, crepe paper, card and tape.

Parent Café Year 1 Beauty and the Beast

In Year 2, we used different materials to make our own puppets. We used coloured pencils and felt to cut and decorate characters from the story.

- 10 Whitechapel Museum of Enfield: Based around the Whitechapel Pumping Station, this is one of the last pumping stations built during the 19th Century to support the flow of water along the New River. It offers a range of exhibitions, activities and workshops.
- 11 Stanton's Coffee House: A spot for quality coffee, creativity and life for the community. If you like warming beverages, good vibes and expert wordsmithery, Stanton's Coffee House offers a space where you can appreciate and absorb stories and recollections in an intimate setting.

Memorial Gardens

- 1 The Lido Memorial Garden: Lido's Garden is Mediterranean-inspired and is usually at its best from around late May when the photogram, ballnet, roses and others, alabaster, lavender, bottle brushes and the yucca begin to bloom. It has been described as a haven of peace.
- 2 Garden of Remembrance, Brookfield Park: Opened by Earl Jellicoe in 1929, the Garden centres on a memorial temple listing all armed service deaths in both World Wars and civilians killed in the Second World War. It includes a symbol can, pond and fountain, an ornamental pergola and a bench made from the timbers of HMS Dryad.

Historical Landmarks

- 1 Forty Hall: Forty Hall is a Grade I listed Jacobean Manor House, nestled in early Enfield and set amidst an idyllic landscape. It offers a permanent exhibition, events, gift shop and cafe.
- 2 Salisbury House: Salisbury House is a Grade II* listed late Tudor Manor House built in the early 17th Century and once formed part of Bury Lodge. It is situated in the beautiful Bury Lodge Gardens on the borders of Edmonstone and Bush Hill and hosts many community events.
- 3 Middleton House Gardens: A nineteenth-century house with a carp lake, Victorian glasshouse, water carrousel/museum and cafe.
- 4 Gilpin's Bell: Gilpin's Bell is named after John Gilpin, the subject of a comic ballad penned in 1782 by William Cooper, entitled The Quacking History of John Gilpin.
- 5 Enfield Millennium Fountain: The fountain commemorates the project to restore the nearby New River Loop undertaken by London Borough of Enfield in partnership with Enfield Preservation Society and Thames Water Ltd.
- 6 Public art in the London Borough of Enfield:
- 7 Wright's Flour Mill: There has been a mill at Ponders End for 900 years. The current mill has been owned by the Wright family since 1867 and is Enfield's oldest working industrial building.
- 8 St. John's Church, Edmonstone: There has been a church on this site since the 12th century. The current church dates back to the 15th century and is the oldest building in Edmonstone. On 10th October 1940 a landmine fell nearby and the church's stained glass windows were blown out.
- 9 Capel Manor: A beautiful 30-acre site established in the late 13th century, Capel Manor Gardens provides a colourful oasis surrounding a Georgian Manor House and Victorian Stables.
- 10 King and Tinker Pub: The King and Tinker is one of the oldest pubs in England. Its unusual name dates back to the reign of King James I. Parts of the buildings are from the 16th century and it is thought beer has been brewed on the site for over 1,000 years.
- 11 Brookfield House: Brookfield House is a beautiful Grade II* listed 16th-century building, the centrepiece of Brookfield Park in Palmers Green. It was badly damaged by fire some 20 years ago. It remains held up by scaffolding and awaits restoration.

Cinemas

- 1 ODDON Luxe Lea Valley Cinema: State-of-the-art cinema for movie-lovers in 2D or 3D format, plus family and student deals.
- 2 Cineworld Cinema: Multiplex cinema chain showing the latest international blockbusters in 2D and 3D formats.
- 3 The Drive-In Theatrehouse Cinema: Relive the magic of the great cinema drive-in movie theatre - a great way to experience live, outdoor theatre and live performances.

Art Crossings

- 1 Angel Edmonstone crossing: The artwork is inspired by the technological and manufacturing heritage of Edmonstone area. Paying homage to the first local state-of-the-art television that was manufactured by Ferguson Plant. The vibrant colours of the crossing refer to the iconic BBC test cards, and the structural grid references the architecture of the Royal Cinema built in 1934.
- 2 Artist: Hive Studios: Artist Hive Studios (AHS) is a unique studio hub in Enfield that fosters the development of an artist's career, providing affordable studio spaces in a creative environment - a space for artists to artists.
- 3 Edmonstone Green crossing: The brief for this crossing represents the A166 belief that life is formed from four elements - air (purple), fire (orange), water (blue) and earth (green). Pigeons or doves are holy in their culture and represent peace and freedom. These elements and symbols symbolise how diverse life is and how we need to think outside the box, represented by the purple pigeon in the upper right corner.

Artist: Hasan Bekar: Hasan Bekar is a member of the British-Alevi community. He is a visual artist, art teacher, illustrator and mural artist born in Ankara, Turkey. After moving to London, he studied creative media production. He is currently illustrating children's books and teaching art to a variety of age groups in British-Alevi Federation.

4 Southgate crossing: A bright and cheery crossing which introduces something with the essence of nature into our urban landscape. The inspiration comes from knots in tree bark and the curving forms of avian legs which have been abstracted to create a striking aesthetic to spark imagination and inspire creativity. The rainbow-like colour scheme symbolises peace and hope and this artwork serves to remind us that hope and light follow even after the darkest of times.

Artist: Dan Miller: Dan Miller's extraordinary design work ranges from painstakingly made intricate artwork to urban-scale pieces, with prestigious commissions for interiors, window displays, theatre and advertising. She's worked with the Hayward Gallery, the Royal Academy, The Old Vic, Liberty, Harvey Nichols and the Royal Festival Hall to name just a few. Dan has lived and worked in Southgate and Palmers Green for more than 20 years, setting up and running the Art Trail which put N3 and N14 on the map as a creative destination.

5 Palmers Green crossing: Changing Perspectives represents the diversity of the Palmers Green community, its openness and attitudes. The artwork incorporates the colours of Pride, BLM and neurodiversity, and the many green spaces that allow us to relax and come together. From its distinct colours, interlocking illustrations and layers you can see from any direction that however different our outlook on life, we're living in the same community.

Artist: Patrick Samuel: Patrick Samuel is an exhibiting artist and musician with autism and ADHD. Having returned to art after a 20-year break, he picked up painting and drawing again when he started his daily art therapy in December 2014. A time of prolific work as well as recognition followed, and Patrick has embraced his neurodiversity as a gift rather than seeing it as a disability, let alone his voice and his calling.

Art Hoardings

These local artists living and working in Enfield have designed three different sections of hoarding around the development site of Meridian One in Upper Edmonstone. Adam David, Karen Roberts and Duncan James worked with the local community to create designs representing the past, present and future of Upper Edmonstone and Meridian Water.

1 Kings: worked with year 6 Meridian Angel Primary school and her piece is located next to their school where their characters tell a literal story of the development of the place they live and study.

2 Adam: worked with two local youth groups who focused on positivity and the themes contain the choice of paths to be followed and the future sustainability and diversity of place.

3 THE TIMES IS NOW!

3 Duncan: worked with a number of pupils from the West Lea School (supporting those with Learning Disabilities) and depicts sport, trains arriving at a station and a DJ playing music.

Ghost Signs

From the 1890s to the 1960s advertising would often be painted on the gable ends of property or occasionally on the late tiles of a building. In the 1930s home owners could make extra money by letting out the gable end of their home to advertisers. These signs were painted onto the brickwork using an oil based paint which contained an amount of lead which enabled the paint to adhere to the brickwork, hence their survival today.

- 1 On the corner of Brookway Road and Brook Road, Enfield, EN2 0EL is a well preserved 'ghost' that reads: BUILDER & UNDERTAKER, FIRMING, SANITATION & DECORATION, 80 BROWNING RD TELEPHONE ENFIELD 2.

2 An out of the way sign is visible on the flank wall of 14 Granville Road, Bowes Park, N13 4AR. The sign overlooks the New River and the backs of the houses on the other side of the river. The sign reads: C/O G.W. 3 On the front of 508 Hertford Road, Enfield, EN3 5SS, above Hills Cafe, is a painted sign in good condition that reads: SAVING GOLD SEED, BREAD. The wording suggests that Hills was formerly a bakery.

4 A sign advertising Hovis can be seen on the flank wall 331 Ordinance Road, Enfield, EN3 4HE. The original sign has at some date been over painted with a new sign for Hovis. Across the top in the letter 'E'... while HOVIS is written twice diagonally down the wall. At the top are the words GOLDEN (Brown). At the bottom is ISOTHE... B... F... FOR HEALTH.

5 On the side of the 325-327 Elm Street Edmonstone, N9 0PD is a worn sign that reads: RECORDER, EDMONTON, BICYCLES, SPECIALISTS, MOTOR. This may be a combination of two signs, one advertising a local paper, the other a cycle shop.

6 A modern example of painted advertising on the side of the Prestige Hair Salon, 153 Ordinance Road Enfield, EN3 4BE on the corner of Catfield Road, EN3 4AE. A superb piece of modern artwork depicting three women sitting under hair driers, while on a front wall is a girl with long flowing hair.

7 On the wall of Pymmes Mews, between Pymmes Road and Mollat Road, Palmers Green, N13 4PS, is a sign that reads: MISS M. B. BAKERY / EST. 1890. WHOLESALE FLOUR. IC. This harks back to the days when a bakery was on the site.

8 On the corner of Windsor Road and 406 Green Lanes may be a newer sign that has been painted over the older sign. The original sign read ARMY CLUB and had the head of what was probably a soldier smoking a cigarette. Over this, in white, the word TRIF has been painted.
